

Editor:

Journal Scientific Research World Economy EconConnections

Vol. 1 Num. 1 – 2023

The Journal Scientific Research World Economy EconConnections - Professionals On Line, plays an essential role as the main platform for the dissemination of theoretical and empirical research in a wide range of disciplines within the field of economics and related areas. Enveloping a wide range of topics, it stands as the primary channel for the exploration of general economic theory, political economy, business economics, industrial economics, labor economics, urban and rural economics, development economics, technological economics, tourism economics, transportation economics, macroeconomics, microeconomics, quantitative economics, resources and environmental economics, economic history and demography, as well as international trade, exchange rates, finance, accounting and insurance.

With comprehensive coverage, this journal serves as an essential resource for researchers, analysts, and policy advisors interested in advancing knowledge and understanding within these multifaceted areas. Whether exploring the complexities of economic models, examining the dynamics of political economies, scrutinizing business strategies, or delving into the impact of technology on economic landscapes, this publication stands as an unrivaled tool for those seeking to contribute and stay ahead. both the latest advances in research and economic analysis.

 Dr. Alberto Valenzuela Muñoz ^a

^a Universidad Nacional José Faustino Sánchez Carrión

<https://doi.org/10.47422/econconnections.v1i1.1>

